

SPIRIT SPEAK

MEDITATIONS | LENS OF TRUTH

NICOLE BONOMI

This you must Know in your eloquence.

There are two conversations occurring at all times. I do not refer to your internal dialogue for now, but the external exchange of words and faces by degree of logic's wishing "to be", logic's longing to position itself within you, by the human sitting in front of you. And it is but even more complex in this cyber digital sphere you created, for without the sensations that come, that pulse in your body, as you sense 'meta-emotion', it can prove complex, but hear Me. I say there are two conversations occurring. Logic is the conversation you have [nothing is kept] but truth is the conversation you feel. Two people can speak of ergonomics and yet their souls are saying I am moved by you, I need to see you where we can speak in private. And as this may be but a beautiful example, I am here to issue both a warning and the recommendation that you heed to this warning. The conversation that you feel, when the person before you has a logic that is aware of its own need to convince you [that] it has nothing to convince, requires you push firmly into your inherited Knowingness. Ask for Me, I, as You, to activate the Lens Of Truth, so that you may feel in full the conversation not spoken in words. Know, this may not be beautiful, and you may prefer the words you hear with your physical ears, and face you see with your physical eyes, but your preference for perceived "beauty" over truth can be damaging, but will certainly be time and life absorbing. If you are wise, you will always seek through the Lens Of Truth, and in the preservation of your life, wake with only those around you who are truly beautiful.

Nicole Bonomi