

III SPIRIT SPEAK

VICTORY OF THE LOTUS

NICOLE BONOMI

You asked Me about belief and deserving[ness] on that 18th day in a room of crystals with yellow walls.

You came to know that room as the place in London for catharsis.
[A safe place].

As you stare intently at clear quartz. Think:
“While I dispute ‘belief’, am I primed for ‘deserving?’”

NB. [There is 1. Karma and 2. Belief
You can rest with peace Knowing that Karma does not cease to exist simply because people do not believe in Karma.
(Natural Law / Cause and Effect)
When it is not a karmic effect/result, it is the result of the belief.]

Or, as it is written in James, are you One in two minds? How can One be 'in' two [if s/he is not separate]? (If s/he is separate, then s/he is not One/Whole)

[However], if You see the two, then are there not three? One ‘The Judge’ [or ‘The Watcher’].
But who are the other two?

A Botticelli card depicted two [people] quarrelling.
Is one better than the other if both quarrel?
He who quarrels with fools becomes the fool himself.

VICTORY OF THE LOTUS

NICOLE BONOMI

Even if one is 'right' but he quarrels, is he 'good'?
Or at least better than who he quarrels with?
[They become equal by the nature of a quarrel and the choice to enter it]
In whose favour then should 'The Judge' rule?
There is no winner in a quarrel.

Victory chooses harmony.

A victor loves peace.

The quarrel is a disharmonization.
A disharmonized microcosmic dance is a push pull of the ego self and soul self.
Night and Day. [No longer a dance but just a push pull, ie. the quarrel]

Above you, you see Brahma rested in lotus. Beside you, an angel carved from rose quartz, and I say: "thus peace and love, the only availing forces".

If One (The Judge / The Watcher) Knows that there is no winner in the quarrel but harmony in the dance, then 'The Judge' is waiting [only] for Soul to experience revelation ["Revelation" - see Latin]. [Soul revelates not ego].

Peace deserves love and love deserves peace.

If you find yourself without either, that is not because you 'do not deserve/ are undeserving' but because you do not believe you deserve.

[What dogma dictates this belief? Dogma is not Mine]

'Belief' (and ideology) itself, the catalyst for quarrel. The quarrel itself, the catalyst for revelation. The time taken for revelation depends on the volume of belief.

Now [think]: “if I should be fortunate [enough] to resolve /[dissolve] belief/[ideology], I am but deserving”. [“But only say the Word”.]

[The propensity “to see / to revelate / to resolve” suggests SOUL is ‘the active’, or ‘the fed wolf’ and this is the only merit required]

Of the two, [ego and soul] one will not cease to exist but equilibrium is achieved through new belief.

[New belief but NOT an ideology].

The two are tasked [with] - a compliance in cooperation [which] is most of the settlement and a new governing belief is agreed to.

Now you pondered at the crystal lotus and white dove and I would draw on purity and peace. Purity is of the MIND [first]. After the Lotus Self rises to the crown, the works are not complete but new found peace to be birthed.

I know you're tired but stay with me Poet.

*New found peace is like the crystal lotus, and light will touch each petal. What is lit, is seen and transformed. There is no more mud for the crystal lotus. Only light for peace. Peace deserves love, yes, “true love” and the lotus deserves light [hence its ascension through the water up to light and air by separation from the mud - the mud was required]. The resolve of belief outdated, is light for the lotus. Peace. And love will come. There is no more a quarrel but [only] peace. And love will come.

Remember, with your own hand you painted the goddess with the dove: “She [who] Knows”. If she is Peace, [then] she calls Love.
